Rights and Dignity for all

Community Development Centre is one of the single organization in mahakoushal region which is continue working towards development of tribal, women and children's. Single organization who has been worked a lot on malnutrition and strengthen skill and knowledge of service providers i.e. Anganwadi worker, ASHA worker, ANM.

Last two year was very much important and learning period for organization, when we start working in leadership development of elected women representatives. Panchayat is one of most important unit, which have constitutional rights for development and equal participation of women. We observed that the when women from weaker section comes with full information and confidence, they can bring big change in their own community.

There are lots of example of women empowerment but these elected women playing effective role in village development and implementing various development schemes in their own panchayats and ward. Without any fear and interference of men, husband or family members. In last two years organization starts working towards child rights and protection effectively. In past more than 10 years we were advocating child rights in every platform and working for children. But now with the Childline project we have more space to work for children. Two more successful year we have completed with the support of our donor PHF, THP and CIF and we are grateful for individual donor and members of the board for their direction and continue support.

Bringing change through community participation.

Promotion of Sustainable Livelihood around Protected forest area

The project "Promotion of Sustainable Livelihood around Protected forest area" was initiated by the organization with the support of Paul Hamlyn foundation [PHF]. The project was started with specific goal and objectives to ensure livelihood of 300 Gond and Baiga community around Kanha Tiger Reserve of Balaghat district. PHF supported organization ongoing project which was initiated with DST/WWF and than Rufford small grant foundation. This project was started with 50 household and by the end of March 2016 organization is able to reach and support more than 300 household for improving their livelihood and lifestyle. The rural tribal community facing different kind of livelihood problems who lives around protected forest area. Due to conservation initiatives the livelihood of these community have been badly affected. Crop damage is one of the important issue, unable to access forest resource, NTFP collection is problematic and silently banned, land rights is also an issue, the community is not more aware about the forest right act and there is no community rights application files. Food security and sustainable livelihood is major cause, which promote local community for illegal harvesting of forest. To discuss all these issue a two year project was planned and implement in 28 small villages with identifying 300 household.

Goal and Objective of the project: The overall goal of the project is to develop a horticulture based model for livelihood security for villages located in protected areas. The specific objective of the project is to intervene in selected villages in the periphery of National Park to:

- I. improve household income of 300 identified families in 28 selected villages of Baihar block;
- II. develop market linkages for sustainable sources of income; and
- III. organize the local community to enable them to address land rights under FRA.

After successful implementation of different project activities. 307 families organized and start learning of horticulture crop cultivation, after looking the potential of land based crop, we have promoted Ginger, Turmeric and Potato cultivation. First year the products used by the families for consumption only but in 2nd year 80% beneficiary has been consumed and start marketing also. In first two years initiatives each family is being able to earn Rs. 3 to 5 thousand additional income. With this organic farming was promoted among the project beneficiary, different kind of low cost composting techniques has been introduced and bring in behavior. Around 50 farmers prepared low cost compost pit which they called TATIYA NADEP. This is the area where less chemical fertilizer and pesticide in practice, which needs to support and continue because market forces are coming in this area with seeds and chemical products. To promote organic farming and promotion of local seeds we have done one experiment with one farmer. We promoted SRI on local paddy seed, we got very effective result of this. Just 1 kg. of local paddy seeds gives 126 kg production in small piece of land. Now the farmers are attracting this side and interested to adopt SRI method for local traditional paddy seed. The project has been converge with MNREGA and with promotion and support to local panchayat body 10 water structure design and estimate has been prepared and submitted to Block office. Annual rainfall is good in this area but water harvesting structure is un available in this area. First time the gram sabha identified proper site for construction and develop plan for irrigation after construction of water structure. Along with the project has been tapped some govt. schemes for project beneficiary i.e. vegetable seed kit, vermin compost pit construction etc. By the end of two years of the project the beneficiary has been learnt techniques of horticulture crop cultivation and organic farming. The gram sabha is in process to file community rights in FRA.

Training, Workshop and Planning for Sustainable Livelihood.
